#Championship – Aston Villa, per il dopo Di Matteo c'è Steve Bruce

L'Aston Villa ha da pochi minuti annunciato sul proprio sito ufficiale l'ingaggio del nuovo allenatore, dopo l'esonero dell'italiano Roberto Di Matteo. Il nuovo mister è ufficialmente: Steve Bruce, ex allenatore dell'Hull City.

Sulla nota ufficiale non compare nessun tipo di ringraziamento per l'ex campione d'Europa con il Chelsea, Di Matteo da poco esonerato.

Di seguito riportiamo il comunicato ufficiale dell'Aston Villa:

"Aston Villa Football Club is delighted to announce the appointment of Steve Bruce as our new manager.
The 55-year-old joins the Club with an outstanding track record in gaining promotion to the Premier League having successfully done so on four occasions.
He brings a wealth of experience with him to the post with previous spells in charge of Hull City, Sunderland, Birmingham City, Crystal Palace, Huddersfield Town, Sheffield United and two stints at Wigan Athletic.
Steve said: "It's a wonderful opportunity. It is one of the big clubs of this country. To be given the opportunity to manage it is terrific.
"I relish the challenge of trying to take the Club where it wants to go and needs to be – and try to turn around the misfortune we seem to have had over the past few years. I am absolutely delighted to have been given the chance. I hope I can do my stuff."
Owner Dr Tony Xia said: "I'm delighted to welcome Steve to the football Club. With his track record, not only at leading teams to promotion from the Championship but also vast experience in the Premier League, I believe we have secured the services of an excellent manager.
"I have had good conversations with Steve and we look forward to working with him."
Chief Executive Keith Wyness added: "In the recent transfer window we focused on character, personality and experience. These three words can be applied in spades to Steve Bruce and I look forward to working closely with him as we turn the Club around and get us back to where we all want to be."
